The concept of RISD's 2012 yearbook is to provide a space for you to share and store memories from RISD. This yearbook contains portraits and visual memories of the class of 2012. On the cover there is an open space for you to record your present moments.

Have fun creating your own yearbook and we hope this book will be a good reminder of memories, people, thoughts, and yourself at RISD in the future.

On the Providence River, mallard ducks nest on the banks, their jade green caps glinting in the sunbeams. Elegant white swans pass gracefully under the bridges, and the Canada geese show off their broods by the BEB building on South Water Street. You have been living among the bank buildings of a once prosperous and booming industrial town, the skyscrapers and handsome downtown structures now serving as our library, refectory and dormitory.

Rhode Island has been celebrating during this, your senior year, its 375th birthday as a colony dedicated a shelter for persons distressed in quest of what founder Roger Williams labelled Soul Liberty. What a wonderful guidepost for artists in search of something toward which to devote one's vocation. RISD has been growing like a copper beech tree, slowly and beautifully, throughout its lifetime, offering itself to the communities in every direction. Toward the mills and factories in need of crafts and designs. Facing uphill on College Street to Brown, which draws its artistic inspiration from our studios and galleries. Inspiring the public and private schools with our museum events, our alumni shows, and the Benefit Street celebrations of local history and regional, workmanship.

Beyond being where we are, we ship, sail, and send off like a flock of doves our graduates, you, to every nook and alcove of the human and natural planet, mending and healing a wounded world with things and ideas of hope and magic. We were built upon some fine words, pledges and promises, from conversation with the native peoples, to welcome for immigrants from everywhere, seeking safe places to call home... and to you, disciples of all the arts, studying your own inner resources, developing the skills to make use of your talents, and learning the languages of poets, potters, painters, and people with tales to tell. Walk along the quais among the monuments to peace, to the Four Freedoms, to the achievements of those distressed who are remembered in phrases carved upon granite among the tulips, across from the bars and tables where we toast our sojourns with...

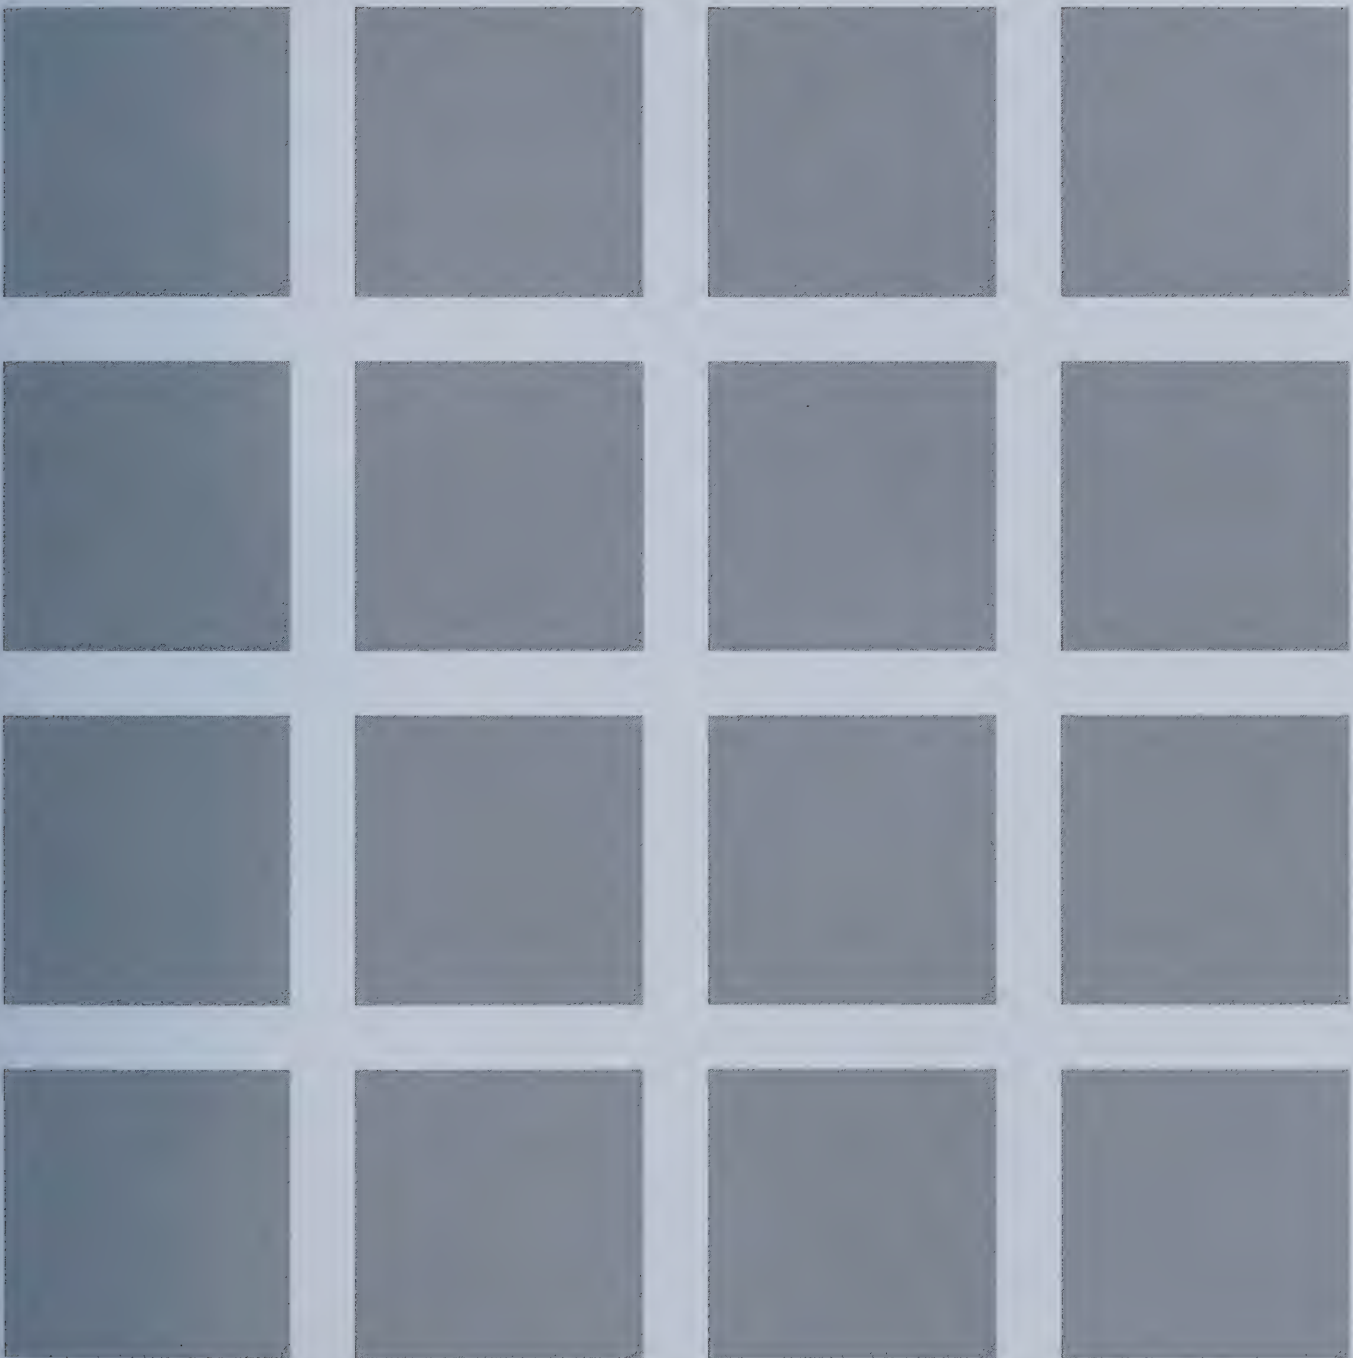

perhaps... the white wines from the vineyards on the islands of the bays that pour into our Seekonk, our Woonasquatucket, our Moshassuk streams and creeks.

You have served us very well with your murals and your sculptures, and this state recognizes you and remembers you, both individually and collectively.

Its leaders and those who dwell among us as school neighbors enjoy you as representatives of a long line of marvelous makers weaving a way back in memory and forward to your dawns. You will ever be part of Providence, and Providence will always be a facet of your future. We thank you and bid you adieu, or, rather, au revoir, with all blessings.

리즈디에서 기억하고 싶은 것은 나 자신.

많은 것을 보고 느끼고 경험하고, 많은 사람들을 만났다.

그들이 나를 어린 소년에서부터 어른으로 성장할 수 있게 해주었다.

아직도 흥분하진 않지만, 대학 4년을 리즈디에서 지내면서 내 자신에 대해
생각하고 알수 있었던 귀중한 시간이었다.

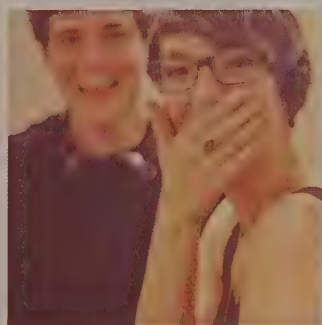

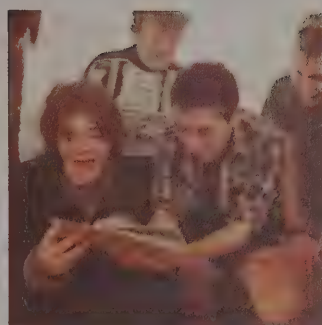

그리고 잊지 않았으면 한다.

이곳에서 나를 만들었던 것처럼 리즈디 이후 다른 곳에서도
내 자신을 항상 기억하기를 원한다.

나를 위해서 살기도 하지만 궁극적으로는 나를 위해 살아갈 수 있는 역사적인 인물
(히스토리 메이커)이 되기를 간절히 소망한다.

이 세상에 태어나 RISD 대학을 졸업할 수 있는 큰 기회를 얻게 되어
하나님께 참으로 감사하다. 주님께 이 모든 영광을 돌린다. 아멘.

RISD Friends,

So I've finally finished my latest piece— RISD. I've finished RISD like any other project I've worked on. There were a lot of late nights working on RISD. There were some bad crits while it was early in development that made me want to tear my hair out and give up. There were friends I made, and fun I had. Working doesn't mean I can't enjoy it. I grew a lot while I was here and I appreciate that.

It's been a collaborative project for sure. RISD doesn't quite make sense to those that haven't been working on it with me. I'm sad to leave the bubble. I cherish having friends that are honest with me, share in my passions and enjoy my same brand of crazy.

Sure, there were some bad times. There were some awesome times too. Do I look back on my time at RISD fondly? You bet. Together we baked, danced, ate, talked, movie watched, drew and painted, critted, chilled, goofed, laughed, cried, cared, and loved. I'll miss all of you.

Keep in touch,

Chris Cyr

Special Thanks to,
my family who always believes in me and supported me
Intar family, especially Rylee and Ji, who were always there for me
Without you guys, I could not have survived from RISD :D
We did have some ups and downs, but you know I love you ;)
My old roomie Ah-young, meeting you were one of the best thing happened for in RISD. Also, BBong BBong, we will probably never see each other again, but wanted to thank you for all the good memories you gave to me. I wish every thing goes well for you.
Lastly Dainel Hewett, best professor ever - and my mentor.

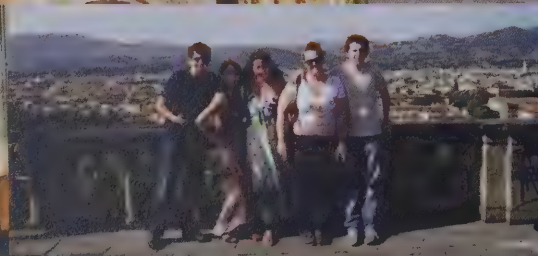

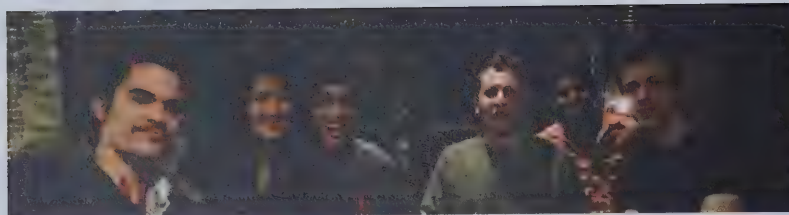

without Tony Janello's kind encouragements and guidance
I would have never made it through RISD.

I would have quit school,
I would have never touched paint again,
and I would have given up on myself as an artist.

Whatever the future holds,
Tony will always remain as an inspiration for me.

hyerin, thought you would appreciate this poem

Brunetti – Final book – Printed Books – Jan Baker – RISD Spring 2010

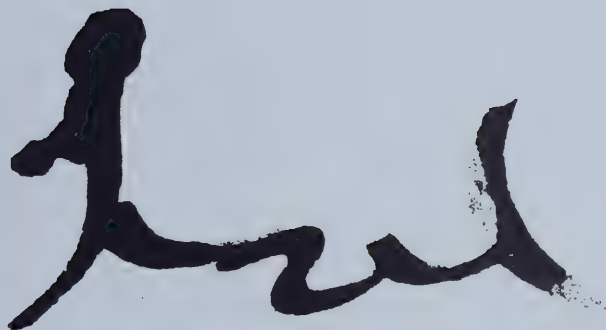

its a project, my student in my book class is working on.

They die slowly – Martha Medeiros (English)

They die slowly those who become a slave of habit,
repeating the same trajectories every day,
who don't change aim,
who don't take the risk of dressing in a new color,
who don't talk to people who they don't know.
They die slowly those who make a guru out of their television.
They die slowly those who avoid a passion,
who prefer black on white and dotted "I"s over a tumult of emotions,
exactly that which rescues the gleam in their eyes,
smiles from yawns,
hearts from blunders and sorrows.
They die slowly those who don't turn the tables
when they are unhappy at work, who don't risk the certain for the uncertain to run after a dream who don't permit themselves, even just once in a lifetime, to run away from sensible advice.
They die slowly those who don't travel,
who don't read,
who don't hear music,
who don't find grace in themselves.
They die slowly those who destroy their own love,
who won't accept help;
They die slowly those who pass their days complaining about their bad luck or about the incessant rain.
They die slowly those who abandon a project before starting it,
never asking about a subject they are unfamiliar with,
never responding when asked about something they know.
We avoid the smooth dues of death
by always remembering that being alive demands an effort much more than the simple action of breathing.
That only through our most ardent patience will we conquer a splendid happiness.

Hello from the children of the plan et Earth.

The revolution resides in the hammer

Dear Class,

I wanted to follow up with all of you where we left off yesterday in regards to quality, craftsmanship and intent in your work/samples. Naturally, I am proud, and always will be proud of the simple fact that you are all moving metal! When I was picking through the samples looking for things to discuss regarding both quality and improvement it was simply to illustrate what needs to happen. I want you all to make the best work you possibly can whether its a technical or an ephemeral piece of jewelry. The quality in your work will always reside in your ability to understand how the nuances of an infinite pool of technical, conceptual and formal resolutions can be culled through and contribute to the work, you always get to decide how far to take it. In order to create this situation you have to own your work and know that you did everything possible to make it great. This often means one more model, a few more strokes of the file, another round of pitch, a few more material experiments, re-reading your resources, testing your own assumptions and the like. I am often inspired by your commitment to your work and know that it means something very special to all of you. As your instructor I want to enjoy our time together, create an environment where you can ask questions, express yourself / concerns and experiment with the course content. That said the ghost of metalsmithing past are critically watching every move we make as a group with a furrowed brow! I look forward to working together to wipe that furrowed brow of concern clean away and replace it with a grin of recognized accomplishment. Enter the smithy with confidence and strike the metal with conviction and intent! As always email if you have concerns or need help with anything.

Best Regards,

Jeffrey

Hannah,

As I am now graduating RISD, you are the person I want to thank most of all. You are the kind of person I have aspired to be, you have been a lighthouse in the night horizon for me. You were always a great book to open up and find inspiration.

What a huge impact you have had on me! You have been that monumental turn on my life's path and without you so many good things could not have happened in my life. Without you I might not experience what I have experienced, everything leading up to and all the changes I underwent while being at this incredible school - all is thankfully to you. I want you always remember how big of a part of my world you are!

With all my love and respect
truly yours,

Muma

Some day, maybe years from now, someone will read this and that caption just a fleeting trace of me young, foolish, full of hope and dreams
maybe still laugh, but future vision at my childish hardworking and my own looking up from the bottom of a well but this is my message to the top of the future
Stay hungry, never starve
Take risks, know what is important
Love yourself, give to others
Laugh and cry often and never forget your dreams.

To everyone who read this on this journey,
I cannot thank you enough.
the most creative, hard working, and inspiring people I've ever met you gave me the most incredible four years of my life
I see my memories of you in my heart pocket
to guide me in future adventures they'll be there until the final lines fade away
but I know the words will still be there.
The road is long. I wonder what's next who will live be the next time we read this page?

4 years of fight with sleep.
But like a pillow,
RISD was with me
Whenever I dreamed.

And it will support me for whatever dream I will have.
All the good memories and things that I learned and experienced will let my dream to be more creative, more colorful!

ABOUT

RISD changed my life because I met you guys. Thank you for making my 4 years the best years of my life. Sleepless nights we laughed, we cried, we were worried to death, happy to death about small and big things... but in the end it all came down to a dance party. Thank you all for accepting me as who I am. Now DANCE!
